Labor Day Prayer Breakfast will kick-off the Living Wages Hunger Strike at Camden Yards

BALTIMORE – On September 3, 2007 the workers who clean Camden Yards will launch a hunger strike to secure living wages for cleaners at Maryland Stadium Authority sports facilities in Baltimore. The Living Wages Hunger Strike will be launched at the Labor Day Prayer Breakfast, which will be attended by state and city elected officials, leading anti-poverty advocates and other allies of the stadium workers.

The Labor Day Prayer Breakfast will be at Light Street Presbyterian Church at 809 Light Street. The silent procession ends at Gate F at Camden Yards (Camden and Russell).

SCHEDULE – SEPT 3, 2007:

- 11:00 AM Labor Day Prayer Breakfast (church courtyard)
- 12:00 Noon State and city elected officials speak (church sanctuary)
- 1:30 PM Silent procession from church to Camden Yards
